Dear General Hiestand,

I am replying to your letter of 21 May 1974 on behalf of Mr. Colby. Unfortunately, he is already committed elsewhere on the 25th of June and he will be unable to accept your kind invitation to participate as the Keynote Speaker for your Military Intelligence Instructor Training Conference on that day.

Since I am scheduled to address both the U.S. Army Intelligence Center and School Advance Course on the 27th and the National Military Intelligence Association on the 28th, Mr. Colby suggested I represent him on the 25th. If this is agreeable to you, I will be very happy to do so. Otherwise, I will still plan to arrive on the 27th. Please let me know if I can be of assistance on the 25th.

Faithfully,

Army review(s)
completed.

TO: General Walters

The attached package from the Director landed on my desk during your absence. You would clearly be the better candidate for this assignment, and I am sure that, failing the DCI himself, the U.S. Army Intelligence Center would rather have you as its keynote speaker than any other substitute. Should you be unable to go, please let me know and I will try to cover for you.

Dear Mr. Colby:

On behalf of the United States Army Intelligence Center and School, I would like to extend you an invitation to participate as the Keynote Speaker for our Military Intelligence Instructor Training Conference on 25 June 1974. The objectives of this three-day conference are four-fold:

- a. Provide an open forum for a meaningful exchange of information among the USAICS Staff and Faculty, instructors from other Service Schools, Division G-2s, and representatives of Intelligence organizations.
- b. Apprise all participants of current Intelligence doctrine, organization, recent development in the equipment field and of projected trends in these areas.
- c. Obtain feedback on effectiveness of training conducted at USAICS and information pertinent to the systems engineering of programs of instruction.
- d. Identify problem areas and possible deficiencies in courses of instruction and solutions thereto.

We will have participants representing the major functional areas within the Intelligence field: Tactical, Strategic, HUMINT, and Cryptologic. The Military Intelligence community at large, both managers and operators, will have personnel attending the three-day conference.

I solicit your participation in this event as our Keynote Speaker with every confidence that such an address would establish an appropriate tone for this significant milestone on our academic calendar. Although
